IT Follow up

In my recent newsletter article I referred to some strategies to deal with the 'technology in the bedroom' issue. I received some positive feedback as well as information about a product that can assist families. Parent Power (www.parentpower.com.au or 0467 738 494) which is an internet filtering device for all devices (including mobiles, iphones, ipods, tablets) using wifi in the home. One of its features is that it allows parents to set times that devices connect and disconnect to the internet for certain devices in the home whilst allowing parents their usual access. I understand quite a few Hale Junior School families use this product and recommend it highly.
